THE RAYMOND LION

Our old monarch, P. K. Moreland and his good and lovely wife have returned from their winter trip to Mexico. They left the first week in January with Mr. and Mrs. Rus Miller of Lethbridge. The climate was warm and balmy, at times. We are not accustomed to warm cold weather. It never gets much below forty degrees but that is very cold if your room doesn't have any heating facilities, or if you are sitting in a beautiful lobby of a hotel with no roof above you. They reported a wonderful trip with a lot of new country and beautiful scenery.

Paul visited three different Lions Clubs while he was away and tells us that Lions are the same wherever you may go—they just sound a bit different in some countries. Of course, they had to see a Bull Fight—but felt a little disappointed or let down—it takes a bit of building before you get the feel of it and really join in the festivities. Elda thinks the bull got a dirty deal. Oh well, I heard some boys out west of us complaining of a dirty deal from some referees the other night. A mere bull should worry. They took in the Cock Fights and apparently they are just a couple of roosters jumping around. You might be surprised what a couple of roosters, with scapels fastened to their spurs, might be able to do to you. The big thrill of these fights is not the jumping of the rooster or the bull, but the big crowd and the betting that goes on. When I was a high school Social Studies student, I was a bit shocked to read that the Puritans in England outlawed horse racing because it allowed a congregation of the ungodly—maybe not such a bad idea if it saves the grocery money for the kids.

Paul tells us that all the stories about Mexico are true? The Siesta is real—you can be shopping very industriously when suddenly the blinds are pulled down and all the people disappear or sit down in the street against the wall and go to sleep for a couple of hours. You see a pile of wrinkled clothes with a big hat sitting on the top—that is a Mexican relaxing for awhile. The food is very good? Well anyway very Mexican. Chili, beans and all, is good after you get the new lining for your mouth and esophagus. Big steaks are good and cheaper—big white faces can be purchased for twelve cents a pound.

The weather is playing fast and loose with the activities of the Lions in the visits to neighbors' Charter Nights. The trip to the Pass for Blairmore's party will not be possible—Picture Butte has postponed their affair for awhile. Magrath night comes on the night of a big ball game. We still plan to make a mass exodus next Wednesday for the Cardston party. We have pledged to take twenty up to return the fine gesture of the Cardston Club when we held our Charter Celebration. This is a special meeting as Ray Welter, International Director, will be Cardston's guest speaker. This will be likely the only visit of our International Director to this part of District 37. Lions are invited from the whole South country as far as Medicine Hat. You will see them all at Cardston.

My Record

This is a good thought for Lion, student, or what ever you are:

Remember, Fellow Lions, whatever our record in Lionism—and this also holds good in our daily living—we are the makers and the recorders of that record. Let us ask ourselves the question: "Is the fine Lions Club we have today partly, due to my loyalty and cooperation, or has it become a fine Club in spite of me?" Answer the

Death Relieves Parley McBride's Suffering

The passing of Parley McBride on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock ended a lengthy illness and brought sorrow to his host of friends and relatives. Mr. McBride suffered for 22 years from palsy and was bed-ridden for the past two and a half months and was taken to the local hospital just a short time before death relieved him of his agonies.

Mr. McBride was 61 years of age, being born in Ogden, Utah, in 1886. His forty-four years of married life brought seven children and 18 grandchildren. Surviving are Mrs. McBride, three daughters, Mrs. Elmo Christensen and Mrs. C. F. Innes of Raymond and Mrs. A. D. Tillack of Rosemary; four sons, Orville of Vancouver, Lloyd of Lethbridge, Harold of Raymond and Keith of Kamloops, B.C.

Mr. McBride came to Canada in 1906 and after a short time here he moved to Harwell where he farmed until his ill-health brought him back to Raymond in 1924.

The funeral will be conducted in the Second Ward Chapel at 2 p.m. on Monday, February 19. Christensen Bros. will be funeral directors and interment will be in Temple Hill Cemetery.

The Second Ward M. Men and Gleaners held a Farewell Fireside Sunday evening for Sharn Stevens, Dale Hickson and Gordon Cooper, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Erickson. Jim Henginger showed his interesting slides and the new missionaries spoke briefly. A lovely lunch was served.

The Mutual Officers and Teachers of the First Ward met at the J. L. Evans home last week for their regular monthly meeting. Bishop Hicken was a guest speaker.

Just Penning Thanks

(Margaret Hueszar)

Friday, as always, brings a surprise. This week it was the Hi-Times. The art is very good, as usual. Vede's editorial on the ever-elusive thing (what was in the box floating in the bay) called "School Spirit" just about drew out the last drops of energy the sprite had left. Room reports, seminary news exchange, and a very original article that has to be read to be believed, on "Humor!", filled the pages.

To the few ignorant, uninitiated, or to get to the point—the grade eights (put down that book), the smell that has been coming out of the lab every morning this week was ether. Grade 12 was experimenting. Need more be said.

On Friday, the day when everything happens, the Social Studies 3 Class was discussing Communism. You'd be surprised if you knew how many profound thinkers we have! We may act like a bunch of scatter-brained ninnies but we know that we are tomorrow's citizens, and we are preparing for it today. Another example of our growing up, is the annual debate held in English 2. This year the debate tore to pieces "Mathematics vs Social Science". Social Science came out on top according to the judges, although I doubt very much if anyone was swayed from his firm opinion, whatever it may be.

All the school kids have decided that the inoculations for typhoid fever should enter the right arm. That way, we wouldn't have to write, we would save the teachers from madness by not having our homework done (they couldn't give us any if we could not write), and think of all the paper we'd save! Logic? You figure it out, I can't.

Basketball can no longer be called a sport in this neck of the woods.

Minutes of Annual Ratepayer's Meeting

As suggested in our Guest Editorial the local press should and could keep the citizens posted on the affairs of the Town. It could and would that is, if we had two more pair of hands. As our friend Arthur Avery in Taber has said, we cannot afford to hire a reporter to go to the meetings and there aren't enough hours in the day to allow us to go personally. If printing the minutes of the Council meetings will suffice we will be pleased to do so. Here are the minutes of the Ratepayers Meeting to which only forty people found time to attend.

February 12, 1951

Meeting of the Ratepayers of Raymond held at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall. Chairman was chosen, Milo Vance with T. T. Mendenhall, Secretary, who read the minutes of the meeting held Feb. 18, 1950. Approved.

First, the report of the Library was read by Mrs. Della Woolf. For particulars see report. Comments and questions asked for by the Chairman, J. G. Snow asked if there were any financial problems. Mrs. Woolf reported that money is always needed as well as additional room. Max Hamilton suggested a "Library Week" as a means of raising funds. Some general discussion. A building 40 x 80 is needed. F. R. Taylor moved vote of thanks to Mr. Woolf for fine services of the past year and that we go on record as favoring expansion of the library. Seconded by J. O. Hicken. Carried.

About Our New School

For those who find it impossible to be at the meeting on Friday the following is a statement from the School Board.

The Raymond School Board held that the taxes for educational purposes should be available for school expenses by the districts where the children from the taxed land are to be educated.

The Raymond School District have been handicapped for many years for, although we educate the children from a large territory, the taxes can only be drawn from a comparatively small area. Fellow-taxpayers, where do your taxes for school purposes go?

We are not at war with St. Mary's School Division. They realize the unjust division of territory and the advantage this has given them for many years.

But why should we be penalized forever? Surely there is justice somewhere.

The Department of Education with the Hon. Ivan Casey as Minister, promised a thorough investigation of this whole set-up the first of January of this year. Now this promise is delayed until March.

And in the meantime the Trustees of the Raymond School District are advertising floating a $210,000 debenture to build a new High School.

When the above injustice is ironed out this school can be built with little addition to your taxes. At the present time the Department of Education advances 25% of the total amount required as a loan, 1/2 of which is a gift to the district, the other 1/2 is to be paid back in 10 years without interest.

As citizens let us not pass snap judgement on this matter but find out the facts and should this building program come to a vote, you will then vote as a progressive citizen.

No Gas This Year

To let you in on the sad news we are printing the whole letter received by Mayor Jensen from Mr. McPherson, general manager of the Gas Co.

The Mayor and other interested parties are not, however, giving up in their attempts to bring natural gas to Raymond.

Mr. Wm. Jensen, Mayor, Raymond, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

As you know, last Fall several members of our staff spent considerable time in Raymond and Magrath making a detailed survey of the natural gas market possibilities of the area. Following that survey, an extensive and careful study was made of the project in the hope that the extension would be economic and could be made in 1951. We wish now to advise you of the results of that study, but regret to say that those results are at the moment not particularly encouraging.

Based on the data secured from the market survey, a complete transmission system to serve the two towns was designed. We find that there would be required some five miles of 10" pipe running from our existing 16" main line to a point on the east border of Lethbridge. From that point some 17 1/2 miles of 8 inch pipe would be required extending to Raymond, with a 3 1/2 mile 4 inch branch to Magrath. There would be required at the town border of both Raymond and Magrath a high pressure regulating station, and of course in each community a complete medium pressure distribution system. These facilities, together with other minor items, are estimated to cost, at the present level of prices, approximately $750,000.00.

A careful estimate was made of the fixed charges resulting from this capital investment in accordance with principles laid down by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of the Province of Alberta. A detailed estimate was also made of the annual operating and maintenance costs in connection with the project, and the extension's share of the costs of our existing system.

It was apparent that the rates to be charged would have to be materially higher than those which are in effect in the communities we presently serve. Accordingly, rate schedules for domestic and commercial consumers were worked out which would result in a gas cost over twice as high as those which apply in our presently served cities and towns. Even these high rates would not yield sufficient revenue to cover the costs mentioned above. We did not consider that rates any higher than this would be acceptable to the people of your communities. Higher rates would mean that we would simply not secure the business which appears to be available there.

We have had it in mind, also, that in the not-too-distant future there may be other pipeline developments in that general area which might render useless such transmission lines as would be required now to serve Raymond and Magrath.

We are most interested in serving the area, and will continue to look for changes in the situation which might make the project possible. We hope that such altered circumstances will arise. We regret, however, that for the above reasons we cannot undertake to make this extension in 1951.

Yours very truly,

R. C. McPherson
General Manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lybbert have been visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Badminton Club Have A Party

Promptly at 9:30, in the Opera House on February 8th, fifty guests sat down at gaily decorated tables to enjoy a sumptuous chicken dinner.

After eating all they desired and many eating much more than that, the crowd dispersed to play various games. Some enjoyed playing badminton again, others played table tennis and still some, who were too full for such exercise, comfortably sat and played Bingo.

From the hilarious shouts being heard from all parts of the hall, the Club members decided everyone was having an enjoyable time. This was assured them when the evening came to a close and everyone thanked the members for a fine time and a good supper.

Last week Mrs. C. A. Finch accompanied her daughter-in-law and grandchildren to Moose Jaw where Mrs. Finch Jr. will make her home while Keith is in the RCAF. Keith will take Radio Technician training in Clinton, Ontario.

Tuesday, after an afternoon of curling, the visiting team from Lethbridge and the local team made up of Margaret Bridge, Marie Kinsey, Geneva Erickson and Connie Grant met at the Grant home for a tasty lunch and pleasant visit.

Ruth Graham Weds In Red Deer

Friday February 9th. Wedding Vows were exchanged between Ruth Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Graham, and Carrol Swiney of Colorado Springs.

The bride chose a beige suit with pink and brown accessories, with a corsage of white carnations centered by an orchid, pinned to her shoulder. The bride's only attendant, her sister Marguerite, wore a plumb colored suit with white and black accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. Kenneth Richards of Oklahoma was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Gandre tendered a Reception for the happy couple in the Rose Room of the Peacock Inn in Red Deer, with thirty guests sitting down to a delicious turkey supper. The table was centered with a beautifully decorated three tiered Wedding Cake, and bouquets of Spring flowers in the room added a lovely festive touch. Tony Martin acted as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion and Wayne Lee proposed the Toast to the Bride, to which the Groom responded.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bourne, LaVon Tollestrup of Taber and Lucille Thompson now of Calgary were present at the Wedding, with the other guests coming from Wisconsin, Missouri, Texas, Colorado and Saskatchewan.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Swiney will be living in the North West Territories for the next few months where the groom has been transferred by the oil company by whom he is employed.

On Monday, Feb. 12, the Union Jacks defeated the Magrath Rockets in the Opera House to even the playoff score with one game apiece. The game was fast and furious, with fouls flying in every direction, un-noticed. The Jacks played by far the superior type of ball. At times it seemed as if some of the Magrath players were put on the floor only to foul and make the Jacks lose their temper. But they did not count on the cool headedness of Coach Art Zeihn, who kept a few tempers under control. Rice kept Magrath in the game all night with 17 points, but his effort was unaided by his teammates. At the half-way mark the Jacks were leading by a score of 43 to 32.

After the breather, the Rockets put the pressure, but to no avail. They came within four points of tying the score but couldn't quite make it. Larry West fouled out and big Dick Sabey received the same treatment, among cheers and cat-calls from the capacity crowd. Al West led the point parade of the night by scoring 21 points. Art followed with 17. When the final whistle blew, the Jacks had downed the Rockets by a score of 63 to 55.

The only shadow on the whole night's entertainment was the booing which Charlie Matkin received from the crowd when he was introduced with other officials of the International League. The crowd had reasons, I guess, but it was certainly very unsportsmanlike.

Jack's: Zeihn 17; Mitchell 7; Rolfsen; A. West 21; L. West 12; Stevens 1; Attwood. Total 63.

Rockets: M. Sabey 5; D. Sabey 8; B. Sabey 7; Rice 17; T. Alston 2; C. Alston 7; Coleman 7; Harker; Pashtu 2; Blumell. Total 55.

Tuesday — The Union Jacks copped the International Basketball League championship from the Magrath Rockets in the final game of the best-of-three series played in the Lethbridge Sports Centre, the final score reading 55 to 48. The game was considerably cleaner than the one on Monday night but even then, both teams roughed it. A capacity crowd saw the Jacks take an early lead which held throughout the game. Both teams played headier ball but at times Magrath seemed to blow up, lose control of the ball, and ultimately, the game.

The lowest thing that has happened so far in the League was the biting of Al West by a certain Sabey. What won't grown men think of next? Larry West led the scoring of the night with 21 points while Al was next with 14. Rice led Magrath with 13 points.

The beautiful trophy was presented to Art Zeihn after the game and the team received a hearty cheer from the Raymond fans.

(We would like to add our sincere congratulations to the International champions.)

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nilsson received congratulations on Wednesday on the occasion of their Fortieth Wedding anniversary. Their family, including Mr. and Mrs. Lawson of Lethbridge, spent the evening with them in honor of the occasion.

The Book Lover's Score met the home of Mrs. Kate Card on Wednesday with Anne Turner reviewing the very interesting book "Mary". Mrs. Byron Anderson was a special guest. A delicious lunch in Valentine colors was served by the hostess.

The Temple Hill Cemetery Board will sponsor a Concert on Saturday, March 31, starting at 8:30 pm in the Opera House. A new feature of this year's concert is the "Treasure Chest"—a cedar chest filled with donated merchandise. A fifty cent ticket (on sale soon) will admit you to the Concert which will feature George Brown as M. C. with talent from Lethbridge and Raymond, and give you a chance to win this valuable prize. There will also be a Candy Bar and Pantry Sale. Get your tickets early.

There has been so much said and so much thought about the current basketball feud that we dare not enter into the thick of the battle so will scrimp around the outer edges and meekly voice our opinion.

First, let it be known that there is fault on both sides of the fence. Some people have the idea that all the blame is centered around that small town to the west. Nay — not so. Both organization, in fact all three of them, have been in error. We are not defending anyone or anything except fairness.

Fairness — that is just another word for that slowly but surely vanishing spirit called sportsmanship. For many years that beautiful spirit has been leaving the rose that will surely wither and die unless it is nurtured with a little — just a small dose at first — good old horse-sense.

At the present rate basketball — our national sport — will soon be degraded to a very low form of meymeh if something isn't done — and quickly. We don't feel we can — solve the problems of the world in one day but we do think that by being men — those most intelligent creations of God —

Too much is being said, on paper and on the air, about the 'bitter rivals'. That too, has degraded into kid stuff. If men are going to play a game let them — and everyone else who wants to appear as an adult — play the game for the game's sake.

Has "Civil Defense-ites" arrived here yet or do we consider ourselves safe from everything but the devil and the Rockets.

Guest Editorial

Civic Election time is here again. The lack of interest shown in Civic affairs by the average man is indeed an unhealthy sign. Ask the man on the street—even a taxpayer—to name the town or municipal council. Don't be to surprised if he can't do it. When so little interest is taken in civic affairs the people and the community become politically stagnant. When this state of affairs becomes prevalent a subversive element can seep in and establish itself before anyone knows what's going on. And don't say it can't happen here.

Our town and municipal councillors are entrusted with the handling of large amounts of public funds—your money. Therefore only the most competent and clear thinking men in the community should be elected to these positions. While these men may be doing the best they can, on every Council there is usually a deadbeat, a sort of slow individual who is pushed around by other members and is lead to vote on motions against his better judgment.

So you say, "How are we to know?"

Perhaps the electors are not altogether to blame for not knowing what goes on. Even though the council meetings and minutes are open to the scrutiny of the taxpayer, there should be some other method of keeping him informed.

Our weekly press could and should carry a full report of all town and municipal meetings. The taxpaying public would then know who was carrying his full share of the load and who was not; know who to return and who not to return to office.

Government Business Is Your Business

To Protect and Develop the Soil

Soils and farming are Alberta's greatest source of permanent wealth. To encourage the development, utilization and conservation of soil resources and to promote the general well-being of men and women serving on the land, is the function of the Department of Agriculture.

The current value of farm capital in Alberta is nearly one and a half billion dollars, but this is being increased rapidly by extensive irrigation developments and agricultural expansion throughout the province. Your Department of Agriculture serves through its branches, as follows: THE FIELD CROPS BRANCH includes divisions devoted to crop improvement, soil conservation, weed and pest control, horticulture and farmstead planning. An horticultural station is maintained at Brooks for the development of new fruits and vegetables adapted to Alberta conditions.

THE LIVE STOCK BRANCH assists to improve the quality of Alberta herds and flocks through a number of improvement policies. Specialists on each class of live stock give full attention to production problems.

THE DAIRY BRANCH is responsible for dairy herd improvement work, licensing and inspection of plants manufacturing dairy products and cold storage locker plants.

THE VETERINARY SERVICES BRANCH maintains an up-to-date animal pathological laboratory through which services are offered the public and practicing veterinarians. Campaigns for the control of tuberculosis and Bang's disease are conducted.

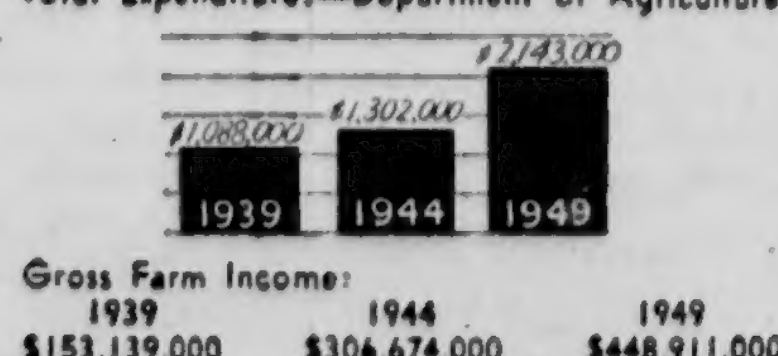

Branches dealing with poultry, fur farming and apiculture are maintained.

THE AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE provides the principal contact between the Department of Agriculture and the rural people. Forty-two district agriculturists and fifteen district home economists make farm and home calls or are easily available for consultation. Specialists in nutrition, agricultural engineering, home designing, etc. assist with special problems.

SCHOOLS OF AGRICULTURE offer two-year courses in agriculture and home economics, and a Junior Farm and Home Club program is conducted. The complete junior program is aimed to promote good citizenship, arouse an appreciation of farming, and to give training in the principles and practices underlying successful farming and home-making.

New Plymouth Model - The Savoy

The Plymouth Savoy offers an outstanding combination of utility, beauty, comfort and low cost — the all-purpose all-steel car with the country club air. It's really three cars in one. It has the riding comfort of a sedan — the smart styling and all around usefulness of a station wagon — and in seconds, it converts to a spacious cargo carrier.

Mrs. J. T. Heninger of Lethbridge is staying at the Bruce Galbraith home this week looking after her grandchildren while Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith and small son Paul are business visitors in Edmonton.

Miss Debra Watson, two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Watson celebrated her birthday this afternoon by entertaining a few young friends. The candle birthday cake, the lunch and the games were enjoyed with "youthful" enthusiasm.

Radio sound effects can be so real boys found that to get the sound of that they hurt! That's what CBC sound technicians David Tasker (left) and Ed Vincent, of the Toronto studios discovered during a recent broadcast. The play was "All Quiet on the Western Front" and the off the rifle on cue.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Matkin attended the funeral of their brother-in-law, Al Broberg, in Magrath on Friday.

Last Tuesday evening the Young Married Peoples Club met for their first get-together of the month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Heidi Karaki. The highlight of the evening was the miniature bowling. The high prize for the ladies went to Mrs. Scotty Karaki and the low prize for the men went Jack Nishiyama. A short discussion period was held and a tasty lunch was served. A very enjoyable time was had by all.

Mrs. Nels Anderson was taken to the local hospital this week having suffered a light stroke. However, friends will be glad to learn that she is progressing nicely.

Jean Cooper and Virginia Paxman were guests of honor Friday evening when the M Men and Gleaners of the First Ward met at the Ellis Heninger home. Jim showed his beautiful slides Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Boehme sang a duet and Rhea Jensen gave a Reading; making up a very enjoyable evening. A lovely lunch was served the group.

Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Glen Meeks entertained in honor of her brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cook who are visiting at their home. A delicious hot dinner was served the twenty-four guests, followed by a gay evening of Rook. Virginia Wilde and Bruce Galbraith took top scores and Beth Galbraith and Ted Meeks the travelling prize.

Mrs. Cook of Lethbridge was an out of town guest.

1951 Dodge Regent 4-Door Sedan

The front of the new Dodge is modern and massive, distinctively styled to look longer and lower. Its sleek lines are deftly accentuated with chrome.

The front window is wider, the corner posts are redesigned for maximum vision, and the area of the rear window has been substantially increased.

The Dodge Regent is offered as a 4-door sedan and club coupe.

The Dodge Crusader Series also includes a 4-door sedan and club coupe. The Dodge Kingsway (111" wheelbase) is available in a two-door sedan, and business coupe. The popular all-purpose, all-metal Suburban is again a feature of new Dodge showings across Canada. Completely new is the Dodge Suburban's special deluxe edition being introduced this year as the Savoy.

Inside the club room at the rink are benches in a row. Where fellows sit to watch the game. While wreaths of smoke they blow. And if you really want to learn the fine points of the play, Don't shoot your rocks, just stay inside.

And listen what they say.

So light your pipe and take a seat. Where it is warm and nice. Where better games are always curled. Than out upon the ice.

For soon you'll hear "He's narrow sure."

He's coming down too hard.

No! no—don't sweep—just let it go.

He's going to get the guard."

"Say watch this guy, the twist he takes."

In his delivery—

He'd tie himself into a knot.

If he should draw the tee.

"He's wide—he's slow—oh let it go!

He never gets the broom!

There's no excuse to miss that shot.

He sure had lots of room."

Now what's he playing that shot for?

What can he be about?

He ought to have a running shot.

And take the rock out.

"He'll never get it with that ice—

Well look at what he struck.

He got it after all, but then.

He had a lotta luck!

But when these men are called 'play,

These curlers skilled and wise.

They make the very same mistakes.

As those they criticize.

They find it takes but little skill.

To dissipate advice.

And play a scientific game.

When they are off the ice.

And as we pass along life's way.

And as we hear men talk.

We're always skillful when we throw.

The other fellow's rock.

This disposition is not strange.

Through life, it's much the same.

We're always wisest when we play.

The other fellow's game.

Frosted Flax and Ergot Poisonous

This article is to point out that definite dangers from poisoning are associated with the feeding of frosted flax plants and ergot-infested grains or roughages to livestock.

Frosted Flax. Chemical analyses on frosted flax, recently carried out at the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, indicate that death may result from the consumption by farm animals of even fairly small quantities of frosted flax plants.

The best precaution farmers can take is not to turn livestock into fields of immature, unharvested frosted flax. For protection against livestock poisoning, and also to prevent the over-wintering of certain destructive flax crop diseases, such as rust and pasmo, unharvested flax should be completely plowed under, or otherwise destroyed, this fall. Farmers who have harvested frosted flax for feed this year would be well advised to send a sample, consisting of about one pound of material, to the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, for analyses. This is indeed a valuable service to the flax growers of Western Canada.

Ergot. The ergot disease of grain crops, particularly of rye, barley and wheat, is well-known to most farmers. It is caused by a fungus (mold). The large, purplish to black, horn-like bodies (ergots), which develop in the heads of diseased plants and are quite conspicuous in the threshed grain, are poisonous to man and livestock. Every care should be taken, therefore, to remove the ergotized kernels from grain that is to be used for human or livestock consumption. Any grain feed which contains 0.1% or more of ergot is considered a source of danger to livestock. Moreover, as a very small concentration of ergot in feed may cause abortion, ergotized material should be excluded completely from the rations of mares, cows, sows and ewes. Don't take a chance! Recognize the dangers that are associated with the feeding of ergot and frosted flax plants to livestock.

The main part of the First Ward Relief Society Meeting was devoted to a demonstration on a model room how to make drapes and curtains, by Mrs. Ruby McMullen. A short program concluded the meeting with the following numbers: piano solo by Ethel Tolstrup; vocal solo by Merle Judd; piano solo by Ivory Burrows; and a Valentine Story by Norma Smith. A lovely lunch was served by the visiting teachers.

Next week the Literature Lesson will be given by Mrs. Hicken.

The Singing Mothers will again hold a Singing Practice before Relief Society and Sunday evening Church next week.

Introducing The New 1951 Plymouth

Plymouth's modern new front-end styling accentuates its low massive appearance. Wider 55 inch windshield, which reduces obstruction at the corner posts, wide-sweeping electric wipers and windshield-wide defroster vents all contribute to better, safer driving in all kinds of weather. The big, wide-opening doors and floor-level sills permit easy entrance and exit. Plymouth's restful chair-height seats with ample head room and leg room are other owner-pleasing features of the new 1951 models which are being introduced. Plymouth offers eight new models. The Suburban and Savoy are designed for those who want active all-round multi-use transportation. The Concord series includes a two-door sedan and three-passenger coupe; the Cambridge which features a four door sedan and club coupe; the Cranbrook four-door sedan, shown above; the Cranbrook club coupe; and the imported convertible coupe.

Little Miriam Matkin and fourteen of her friends enjoyed a lovely Valentine party at the D. Matkin home on Wednesday. Games and a delicious lunch served at tables decorated in the Valentine theme were the highlights of the afternoon.

A young lady gave the telephone operator the music store number but by mistake got another line. When a man answered, she inquired, "Do you have 'Eyes of Blue and Love That's True'?"

The man on the line wasn't musically inclined, but he was quick-witted. "No," he replied, "but I've got a wife and nine children, including four sets of twins."

"Is that a record?" gasped the astonished young lady.

"Well, now, ma'am," was the answer, "we're not sure, but we think it is."

The word "stationery" comes down from the "Middle Ages" when most people were unable to read and write. Monks set up stations in churchyards where they might write and read for their parishioners. In time, paper and other things were sold and when this practice became a trade its followers were known as "stationers." England's copyright office is still known as "Stationer's Hall."

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Austin Jones and family and Mrs. Wilson Rolison and family were guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Orson Bingham at their weekly Family Night. An enjoyable time was had together viewing home movies, and listening to records. A very tasty lunch was served by the hostess.

Modern Lighting Aids Gives Homes New Beauty After Dark

With the advances which are constantly being made in indoor lighting, there is no longer any need for the colors in a home to dim and lose their glow at sundown or on drab days. Modern artificial illumination takes up where the sun leaves off and keeps color "alive". However, if the glow of light on color is to be appreciated fully, the colors must be clean and bright and the surfaces must have a reasonably good reflective power.

There are several important things to know about the relationship of color and light. One is that the velvety surface obtained with flat paint applied to walls and ceiling provides superior light diffusion. Too high a gloss produces glare rather than good light. Then, it is well to recognize the fact that certain colors have a higher light reflection than others. So the color can be employed as a definite visual aid, this factor must be considered in planning home decorating and lighting. The majority of side walls reflect from 50 to 60 per cent of the light reaching them. White and Ivory give the highest light reflection, as much as 85% and 75% respectively. Pink, yellow, tan, grey and light blue come next with 55% to 65%, followed by light green and apricot with 55% and 50% respectively. Dark colors trail with only 5% or 10%.

Floors and rugs, along with furniture, are classified as important secondary light sources and merit close attention. The light they reflect is in direct proportion to the lightness of their color.

Lighting as a decorative device used to be confined to the Christmas tree, but today it's accepted as an important part of interior decoration. While lamps and other types of auxiliary lighting come under heading of decoration, decorative lighting may provide some of the general illumination as well. One example is cornice lighting which sends an even flow of light over one or more walls, illuminating the room and pointing up the color scheme. Cornice or cove lighting is particularly effective in creating the illusion of additional window space in a room with poor window distribution. At the window itself, a fluorescent strip concealed behind a valance suggests daylight filtering through the draperies.

Another clever way of illuminating walls is to build frosted glass sections in the tops of low wall cabinets, thus allowing hidden light to escape upward through the frosted glass. This same principle may be utilized in a mantle, with the upward flood of light spotlighting a favorite painting. Books can double as decorative factors, if a light is hidden inside the bookcase. This trick is especially eye-catching when the inside of the bookcase is painted to match one of the secondary colors in the room. Wall cupboards or corner shelves respond well to this same treatment and provide for an effective display of art treasures, a cup collection or some distinctive glassware.

Mr. and Mrs. Garth Peterson were visitors in Salt Lake and other points in the U. S. this week.

Operation of Spray Plant Delayed

Cold weather and the resultant depth of frost in the Canal embankment has caused further difficulties in the operation of the Spray Lakes power canal. Although the Company has made every effort to bring the Canal into operation, it has found this is not possible until milder weather prevails and the frost comes out of the ground. The Company has therefore, postponed further work on the project until weather and frost conditions permit. This will delay bringing the new 62,000 h.p. Spray Plant into operation.

By releasing stored water now held in the Spray reservoir for immediate use in the Bow River plants to produce additional electrical energy, plus the purchase of steam generated power through its various interconnections, the Company believes that no restrictions that will unduly inconvenience customer use will be necessary.

As the hours of daylight become longer, the peak load situation will gradually improve, except during extreme cold weather when the use of space heaters and similar appliances adds very materially to the load carried by the electrical system. It will therefore be necessary for power consumers to continue their co-operation in restricting the use of appliances and unnecessary lights over the peak load hours from 4:30 to 6:30 for at least another month, especially during sub-zero weather.

The Editor,
Raymond Recorder,
Raymond, Alberta.

Sir:
The Alberta Tuberculosis Association wishes to place on record the thanks of its Directors and members that are due to the Raymond Recorder and your readers who have supported us so generously again in the 1950-51 Christmas Seal campaign.

The Seal sale is nearly over, and although the provincial total is still a few thousand dollars short of the $170,000 objective, we are confident that when all returns are in, we will again have achieved our goal.

Tuberculosis is still a deadly enemy of our people, but fewer people die of it each year. We cannot relax or become complacent, however, as long as TB kills 200 Albertans in a single year. That is 200 too many, and we will not rest until we have put tuberculosis at the bottom of the list of killers of the human race.

With thanks again, to the Raymond Recorder, to your readers and to all the 90,000 or more Alberta residents who have contributed in any way to our work, we are,

Sincerely yours,
C. H. Crooks,
President
C. Robert Dickey
General Secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Gough were Sunday visitors in Taber at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gough.

Mrs. Velda Heggie entertained the Wednesday Night Club at her home last week with Anne Turner, Julia Tolstrup and Margaret Heggie as special guests. An evening of Rook was enjoyed with top prize going to Anne Turner, and consolation to Sybil Vanderhilt. A delicious lunch was served.

Wednesday evening a group of friends met at the home of Mrs. Nora Stone to listen to Jan Heninger's very interesting tale of her trip through parts of Europe and Asia. She also showed some of the souvenirs and pictures of the various stopping points. I believe that the sentiments of the group was that it would be really wonderful to take such a trip but Canada is a pretty good place to live.

A delicious plate lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cooper and their daughter Mrs. Wayne Gibb of Picture Butte accompanied Jean to Great Falls on the first portion of her trip to the mission field in the New England States.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell McNeely returned this week from a two-month visit in Warner at the home of Mrs. McNeely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Halmrast.
